

WESTERNS IN LARGE PRINT

Vengeance of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

A classic tale of vengeance and courage from the old West. Smoke Jensen is pursued by the outlaw Sundance and his gang hell-bent on vengeance. It's a blood feud between Smoke and Sundance. Doesn't Sundance realize that Smoke doesn't give second chances?

Resolution by Robert B. Parker

After taking a job as lookout and enforcer in Amos Wolfson's Blackfoot Saloon, Everett Hitch teams up with his friend Virgil Cole to protect their interests. When greedy mine owner Eamon O'Malley threatens the coalition of local ranchers, Hitch and Cole find themselves in the middle of a war between O'Malley's men and the ranchers.

Betrayal of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Smoke Jensen, called the fastest gun alive, is jumped by 6 low-life robbers who steal his identity. Tried for robbery and murder, Smoke is sentenced to hang in the morning—he manages to escape the hanging, then sets out to hunt down the desperadoes.

Law of the Desert by Louis L'Amour

Seven short stories showcasing the powerful and compelling vision of the American West when L'Amour called "a big country needing big men and women to live in it."

Showdown at Yellow Butte by Louis L'Amour

Tom Kedrick earned his stripes during the Civil War, fought Apaches, and even soldiered overseas. But in the high desert country of New Mexico, the battle-hardened Kedrick is caught up in a different kind of war – a war fueled by greed and deception.

Lonely Trumpet by Johnny D. Boggs

Valley of Wild Horses by Zane Grey

Kilkenny by Louis L'Amour

To Tame a Land by Louis L'Amour

Gunswift by T. V. Olsen

Guns of Arizona by Lauran Paine

Wyoming by William MacLeod Raine

Shane by Jack Schaefer

Fire in the Hole by Richard Wheeler

Thirteen Moons by Charles Frazier

This is the story of one man's remarkable life, spanning a century of relentless change. At 12, orphaned Will Cooper is a bound boy, obliged to run a remote Indian trading post. As he fulfills his lonesome duty, Will finds a father in Bear, a Cherokee chief, and is adopted by him and his people.

Laughing Boy: a Navajo Love Story by Oliver La Farge [winner of the Pulitzer]

Laughing Boy knew nothing of the white man, growing up worshiping the Indian gods. Slim Girl knew too much about the white man, dreaming of revenge. Slim Girl saw Laughing Boy as her only hope and her salvation.

Land of Promises by Wayne D. Overholser

Settlers were waiting for word from the Federal Troops that they could rush into the Ute reservation and grab the best land -- and they were prepared to kill to keep it. Mark Manning stood apart from the rest. He understood that every settler was committing an injustice.

Mountain Storms by Max Brand

When his father dies in a fall in the mountains, 12-yr old Tommy is left to survive alone. The bond he creates with nature becomes legendary. When an expedition goes hunting him, they are halted by his horse that runs like the wind and the giant grizzly that becomes their shadow.

Law For Hire: Protecting Hickok by Bill Brooks

Teddy Blue joins the Pinkerton Detective Agency and gets more than he bargained for as bodyguard to the famous "Wild Bill."

Blood and Gold by Ralph Compton

Saddled with $30,000 in gold, and suddenly responsible for protecting a father and daughter lost in hostile country, respectable cowpuncher Dusty Hannah has to keep his wits about him and his aim steady if he hopes to see the trail's end.

Dead Man's Canyon by Ralph Cotton

The Carly twins, Blake and Abel, are identical except one is good and the other is bad. When Blake guns down a sheriff, Abel runs with him to protect him. Then the killing leads to more killing and Abel starts to realize just how far his evil sibling will go.

The Sharpshooter by Ed Gorman

When the powerful and blood-hungry Jeremiah Belden went gunning for revenge against the woman he blamed for his son's death, legendary sharpshooter, Mitch Coldwell, stood in his way.

The Jenner Guns: a Shawn Starbuck Western by Ray Hogan

Junction City is being terrorized by the Jenner gang. Shawn Starbuck takes on the job of sheriff and plans an intricate scheme to capture them, but further robberies and a mysterious woman provide complications that make his plan backfire.

Heller With a Gun by Louis L'Amour

Tom Healy's theatrical troupe needed to get to Montana, and the weather was turning. Andy Barker promised Tom he could get them there safely, but Tom was reluctant to trust him. Tom was right to be worried, because Barker did have a plan...

The Last Chance Kid by Nelson Nye

In England, Alfred Addlington grew up in a castle. In the Wild West, all he wants to be is the best cowpuncher ever to ride the fences. But his greenhorn scent attracts a pair of trail-hardened bandits, hell-bent on chasing him on to the end of a rope.

Rogue's Rendezvous by Nelson Nye

Jeff Kitchin had never set out to be a hired gun, but as the money was good, he had his eye on buying a lush cattle spread. If he wasn't careful, he'd become buzzard bait, for in this part of the country a man's mistakes were written off in gunsmoke.

Cassidy by Wayne D. Overholser

A boy who sees his father killed like an animal becomes a man who kills like one. His father's killers were ranchers who believed his father's crime was building a home in a green Oregon valley.

The Free-Graze War by Lauran Paine

Ranchers regarded free-grazers as jackals, and wherever they roamed trouble flared up. Buck Handley and Hoyt McElroy were two such trouble-makers. As Jethro Graeme told them to get out, he knew nothing about the bloody advantage Handley had.

Vengeance Rider by Lewis Patten

After 15 yrs in the hoosegow for the murder of his wife, Ross Logan was back at Horseshoe Ranch. Somehow, he had to find the real killer and get to the truth . . . and not all the lead in Vail was going to stop him.

Trouble in Tombstone by Richard S. Wheeler

Tombstone, Arizona Territory, in the 1880s was a paradise for those who thought themselves exempt from the law. In a town where men with badges were openly threatened, folks needed the firm hand of men like the Earps.

Duke by Todhunter Ballard

There was one danger left for Ellis and his his men. That was Duke, the outlaw who once saved Ellis' life and now aimed to correct that mistake with his six-gun!

Spark On The Prairie: The Trial of the Kiowa Chiefs by Johnny D. Boggs

Instead of unleashing the Army against the tribes slaughtering settlers, General William Tecumseh Sherman makes a decision to bring Kiowa chiefs Satanta and Big Tree to trial for the murder of 7 cowboys.

Shadow Mountain by B. M. Bower

It was beginning to look as if Shadow Mountain was living up to its Indian reputation of being bad medicine. Now the yodeling cowboy is under suspicion for a shooting, with the motive being the man's young and attractive daughter.

Peter Blue: A Western Trio by Max Brand

Titles in the trio: "Speedy's Mare", "His Fight for a Pardon", and "Peter Blue, One-Gun Man".

Justice Gun by Lyle Brandt

Gut-shot and dying, Matt Price was rescued by the Carvers, a black pioneer family making their way to the peaceful town of New Harmony. But all outsiders aren't treated equal, and Matt will come to save the people who saved him.

First Command by Will Cook

Lieutenant Jefferson Travis counted heavily on going by the book since it was his first command. But the book didn't cover the kind of guts and integrity needed for impossible situations.

Trail Boss From Texas by Barry Cord

Brennan had come to Timberlake to deliver 600 head of cattle to Jeff Halliday, only he found Halliday clubbed to death. Now, caught in the killing crossfire between ranchers and land barons, Brennan is trying to save the Halliday ranch.

Sabre's Edge by Ralph Cotton

Burrack needs a lot more than guns and wits to bring justice to Sabre Ridge. He needs his best ally, Maria, who isn't afraid to draw down on anyone.

Ghost Mine by Steve Frazee

Sam Rigdon was accused of stealing a gold shipment back home, so the gold he said he's now found in Alaska is rumored to be the stolen gold. Sam's grandson joins up to clear his grandfather's name.

Ride Into Yesterday by Ed Gorman [Spur Award Winner]

When Stephen Payne rides into Favor to investigate the death of his younger brother, Art, he pays a high price to cut through the secrets of the flailing silver boom.

Tonto Basin by Zane Grey

Jean Isbel travels from Oregon to Arizona to join the rest of his family in the final showdown with Lee Jorth and the Hash Knife Gang. For Jean, the savagery of the conflict becomes complicated when he falls in love with Ellen Jorth.

Overkill At Saddlerock by Ray Hogan

Sheriff Seth Rossiter just jailed a close friend who breaks free with the aid of a treacherous woman and a conniving gambler. Now he has to pursue the 3 of them on a wild chase to Saddlerock, to betrayal, to bloodshed and death.

The Regulator: The Life and Death of William Thompson by Ray Hogan

Recreating the life and times of one of the boldest men in the Old West, ruthless Bill Thompson, the lawman who shot first and asked questions later.

Whispering Canon by Robert J. Horton

When Rance gets suspected of cattle rustling and robberies, he sets out to clear his name, save his ranch and put away the men who are guilty. Trouble comes when he's trying to tell the good from the bad.

Jericho's Road by Elmer Kelton

The Jackson-Chavez war is flaring out of control. Jericho Jackson, north of the Rio Grande, and Guadalupe Chavez, south of the river, are two land-and-cattle barons with a deep-rooted hatred.

Wrath of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

When Smoke trusts his injured comrade to the care of a small-town doctor, the last thing he expects is for the local sheriff to hold his friend hostage until Smoke rides back into town.

The Buscadero by Noel M. Loomis

Two-gun newspaperman Tom Bell rode into Doblado with a murder charge around his neck, but stayed to clear his name, to fight in a personal crusade against corruption and injustice, to live to tell it.

The Twilighters by Noel M. Loomis

Old Mat Foley was a powerful, rich and ruthless land owner in Kentucky stripped of his dynasty by local settlers angry about his latest killing of a young boy. As he moves his fortune to New Spain, the Twilighters gang lies waiting for his $60,000 wagon train.

Black Sombrero by William Colt MacDonald

Johnny Donne, ace trouble-shooter, was sought for killing a rich rancher who had hired him as a detective in a killing over range land. When Johnny rode out to get the real murderer, he got entangled with a ruthless pack of outlaws.

The Killer Brand by William Colt MacDonald

Whit Gallatin was cursed with the label "killer" because of his father's reputation. But Whit didn't care about gossip. All he wanted was a crack at his father's killers.

West of Rock River by John D. Nesbitt

Vance Coolidge always said a man should have a chance to get even when he's been done wrong. He soon finds that righting wrongs can be a tricky and dangerous business.

The Ghost Rider by Lauran Paine

Lily Putnam and her son Walt had to hold together the homestead while her husband left to find work. As a trio of renegades arrived to terrorize them, they found they had a protector who watched over them. Who was he?

Vow of Vengeance by Lewis B. Patten

When settler Sam Dunson is falsely accused of killing a steer and hanged in front of his wife by vicious and powerful cattlemen, she not only suffers a miscarriage but makes her own vow of vengeance.

The Scout of Terror Trail by Walker A. Tompkins

Deo Daley was the best trail scout, so it was only natural that old Tex Garland should choose Deo to guide his party along peril-ridden Terror Trail. But the worst enemy of all was a seeming friend.

The Bounty Trail by Richard S. Wheeler

Two men and a woman, down on luck with less than perfect pasts, strive to resurrect their lives in a ghostly mining town.

Vengeance Valley by Richard S. Wheeler

With only a bunch of nuns on his side and maybe just a little luck, goldminer Yancey's going up against a gang of vicious mining barons in desperate need of another motherlode.

Law of the Land: a Guns and Gavel Novel by Johnny D. Boggs

Pat Garrett finally catches up to Billy the Kid on December 23, 1880. Now before judge, jury and the entire country, it is time for Billy to answer. Billy, however, has other plans.

Flaming Fortune by Max Brand

Western Trio: The Canon Coward, A Wolf Among Dogs and Seven-Day Lawman.

Ralph Compton: Nowhere, Tx by David Robbins

Citizens of Nowhere have suffered enough under the bootheels of desperadoes. Now its time to put Nowhere, Texas, on the map.

Gunman's Song by Ralph Cotton

Racked with guilt for not saving his beloved Rosa, Lawrence Shaw vows to shorten the life expectancy of her murderers . . . and any other hardcase who even thinks of sending hot lead his way.

Jackpot Ridge by Ralph Cotton

After Jack Bell won $700 in a poker game against Early Philpot, Bell didnt reckon Philpot was such a sore loser. Sending a gang of lowlifes to settle the score only proved Bells prowess. The survivor went back to feed Philpot with even greater revenge.

Branded by Ed Gorman [mystery]

Andy Mallow has always known that his father is a louse. When his pa is accused of killing his wife, Andy tries to piece together a bloody puzzle, trying to save a man who hasnt been able to save himself.

Gun Truth by Ed Gorman (winner of the Spur Award)

Tom Prine figured that a stint as deputy in a backwash town like Claybank would give him a nice rest. Until, arson, kidnapping and murder turns Claybank into a dangerous place.

Mackenna's Gold by Will Henry

A treasure worth killing for . . . Somewhere in 100,000 sq miles of wilderness was the fabled Lost Canyon of Gold. With his dying breath, an ancient Apache warrior entrusted Glen Mackenna with the location.

The Vigilante by Ray Hogan

Ex-lawman Jake Harper had been railroaded by a gang who had murdered a miner and his wife and stolen a fortune in gold. The outlaws went free, but Harper went to prison. Later pardoned, he sets out to track down the killers and make them pay.

The Marshal of Babylon: a Shawn Starbuck Western by Ray Hogan

Starbuck signs on as town marshal of Babylon and before long his loyalty is tested.

Power of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Smoke's arrival in San Francisco is not welcomed. He learns of a plot by the wealthy and the deadly to expand their hold over the region's gold-rich lands. He recruits an angry band to fight a final showdown.

Ambush of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Smoke, with no gun, no supplies, and 20 armed men in pursuit is on the run from a father's fury. But Smoke Jensen knows how to survive.

Texas Vendetta by Elmer Kelton

Rangers delivering prisoner Jayce Landon quickly learn that the Landons and Hoppers are involved in a blood feud. When Jayce escapes, hell breaks loose with the rangers caught between warring factions.

By Sorrows River: Berrybender Narratives, Bk 3 by Larry McMurtry

Continuing the Berrybenders' trail across the Great Plains towards Santa Fe, they meet up with a cast of characters from the history of the West who prove once again that the rolling, grassy plains are not nearly as empty of life as they look.

Folly and Glory: Berrybender Narratives, Bk 4 by Larry McMurtry

In this final volume, the Berrybenders are adapting to life in Santa Fe. Jim and Tasmin must choose where their future lies.

Blizzard Pass by T.V. Olsen

At a lonely ghost town called Thirty Mile, a bitter winter was pressing. The last stage had just checked into the post when the door opened and let in a band of murdering thieves.

The Gunsight Affair by Lauran Paine

Fate put an end to the long outlaw career of Roy Eastman in a way no one not even Eastman could have predicted.

The Abilene Trail: a Ralph Compton Novel by Dusty Richards

Ben McCullough was once an officer in the Confederate Army. Now he's a rancher in the Texas hill country, hoping to earn enough money to settle down and marry.

The Alamo by Frank Thompson

Based on the 2003 screenplay with a film starring: Dennis Quaid, Billy Bob Thornton, and Jason Patric.

The Gun Tamer by Max Brand

When Don Felipe Consalvo showed up at the McCay ranch, none could suspect that beneath his grace and charm lurked a deadly gunman.

Horde of Fools by James David Buchanan

Many small town churches needed money after the Spanish-American War, so the Congregational Church of Bent Creek, Vermont decided to send one of their own to the Klondike gold field in Alaska.

Gunmaster by Giff Cheshire

Mason Price's life was ruled by anger and suspicion and he had a reputation for meanness. In the small town of Snake Bend, Price was a marshal who knew but one creed the law of the bullet. Where others built a town, Price tamed it and made enemies in the process.

Showdown at Two-Bit Creek by Ralph Compton

Buck Fletcher headed for Montana's Two-Bit Creek in order to pay his respects at the grave of his parents. But what awaits him there may land him six feet under as well.

First Command by Will Cook

Lieutenant Jefferson Travis counted heavily on going by the book since it was his first command. But the book didn't cover the impossible situations, calling for guts and integrity.

The Man From Wyoming by Dane Coolidge

Clayton Hawks has returned to Powder Springs, Wyoming, to settle some rustling problems on the Lazy B Ranch. What Clay finds is a lot worse than expected, and he doesn't believe in solving matters by the gun. He's determined to clean up the ranch his own way.

Webb's Posse by Ralph Cotton

When the Peltry Gang swoops into Rileyville, the attack is sudden and merciless. Deputy Webb is caught with his pants down, but not for long. With a posse, Webb will bring the gunslingers in dead or alive.

White Wolf's Law by Hal Dunning

Whole towns are terrorized by the name of the great outlaw Jim-twin Allen, also known as the "White Wolf." He shows his sheriff brother some excellent ways of administering justice.

Port Hazard by Loren D. Estleman

Murdock doesn't know why someone wants him out of the way, but he knows where they're coming from . . . San Francisco's Barbary Coast.

Claws of the Eagle by Andrew J. Fenady

Al Sieber, respected by soldiers and Indians alike, has a chest full of scars instead of medals. He gathers together Tom Horn and the Apache Kid to close in on Chief Geronimo.

Trigger Vengeance by Bennett Foster

When Dr. Carey arrives a small settlement of ranchers and sheepmen to take up a friend's practice, he learns that the West is never quiet.

The Stampede Kid by Norman A. Fox

Matt McGrath is about to teach the killers of his brother Hank the meaning of "the gospel according to Matthew"! God help the men who sent Matt's big brother to meet his maker.

Thorson of Thunder Gulch by Norman A. Fox

Tod Thorson got a taste of Thunder Gulch, a kill-crazy Montana boomtown, when the stagecoach bringing him from Fort Benton was raided by a band of Colt-slinging renegades.

Trouble Man by Ed Gorman

Ray Coyle used to be a gunfighter and for ten years took an honest job sharpshooting in a Wild West show. But when he got word that his boy had been killed in a gunfight, he just had to go there.

The Desert Crucible by Zane Grey

"The real sequel to Riders of the Purple Sage." This unforgettable story of tragedy, romance, and hope can at last be read just as Zane Grey wrote it, without editorial cuts.

Bush Track by Fred Grove

Dude McQuinn had tried hard to give up the risky and dangerous life of an itinerant quarter horse racer, but a letter from a one-time partner, describing the success he was having in Kansas, was more than Dude could resist. He set out after his old pals.

The Buchmans by John Henley

Herman Buchman had a university education in Germany before he and his wife emigrated to the U.S. After his wife died and left him with an infant son, he strove to emancipate the working class of his adopted country but instead buys Solomon Freeman, a slave.

The Legend of Blackjack Sam by Lee Hoffman

It was a cruel twist of fate that brought ol' Bo to the town of Bottleneck in the stolen clothes of Blackjack Sam Lake. Question is . . . could he shake his new identity.

Showdown on Texas Flat by Ray Hogan

Dave was a patient man, but he couldn't afford to drive his cattle the long way around Texas Flat. Either he'd be shot by Farman, who claimed Texas Flat was his, or lose his whole herd. He had to risk it.

The First Mountain Man: Preachers' Justice by William W. Johnstone

In a land of towering mountains and howling winds, a man has found a home, away from other men and away from memories of the past.

Quest of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

There's only one way for a visionary to drive a railroad across the Canadian Rockies . . . through clouds of choking gun smoke and straight into one hell of a fight.

Stage to Lonesome Butte by Wayne C. Lee

Gold Run was an angry town. Nobody knew that better than Morgan Steele, because that anger was focused on him.

Blood Rage by T. V. Olsen

Rhiannon rode at the head of an ill-assorted band to rescue his oldest adversary's daughter. Why? Because adversarial Dragoman snatched something Rhiannon held precious.

Molly and the Indian Agent by Stephen Oversholser

Molly rode into Crowheart to solve a murder, but she was about to get swept up into a war. Her investigation leads to where no white man should go . . . into the heart of the Shoshone encampment.

Arizona Ambush by Lauran Paine

Four professional gunfighters just came through the Powder River War looking only for peace and relaxation in the Arizona sunshine. They weren't looking for trouble, yet as long as they wore guns, trouble was bound to seek them out, and they were obliged to face up to it or die.

Brothers of Vengeance by Lauran Paine

Just as the settlers and cowmen settled their range war, someone hanged a 16-yr old settler lad and took 2 girls hostage. Langston and Henry Gunn engineered a battle to prevent the outlaws from murdering their hostages. It was a close race and even closer gun fight.

Montana Trail by Lauran Paine

Matt Grady and partner Emmett Ray wouldn't have known they'd trespassed on Doc

Farraday's range if some Sioux cowboys hadn't told them. They soon out-lived their welcome and Farraday turned hard.

The Oxbow Range by Lauran Paine

When the killer rode into the Oxbows, Sheriff Graham's quiet life exploded in his face. Now he had no choice but to strap on his gunbelt and follow the most deadly killer in the West.

The Scattergun Men by Lauran Paine

Little Bob Tollman was over 6' tall and hard as iron. Benton Cromwell discovered must how hard Little Bob was the first time they tangled.

A Death In Indian Wells by Lewis B. Patten

After some townsfold killed a Cheyenne brave, Sheriff Pete Handy knew he must try to stop a war of vengeance. Pretty hard to do as a white man with a Cheyenne wife and son. But he stood alone in a cross-fire of hate and violence to save the settlers and his wives tribe.

The Lawmen by Robert Vaughan

Lucy's baker husband has disappeared. While most people believe he was in on a heist to rob the bank, Lucy contends that he is a prisoner of an outlaw gang.

The Gambler by Ray Hogan

Fate was about to deal him the worst hand of all The name was Tom Corcoran. A gambler by profession, a cheat by inclination. He was about to learn that a gambler can win once too often.

Death Along the Cimarron by Ralph Compton

Disguised as "Danny Duggin," Danielle Strange hunted down the merciless cutthroats who murdered her father. Now the feared gunslick has hung up her trademark twin Colts, given up her secret identity, and is bent on making something out of her Texas ranch.

The Gunfighter by Robert J. Conley

Things were looking right peaceful for a change in the small town of Asininity. But that just couldn't last, because Asininity was Marshal Barjack's town, and nothing seemed to stay quiet around him for very long. Maybe because he was so darned ornery.

Lawless by Ed Gorman

After a stretch in Yuma prison, Sam Conagher gave up his dream of becoming a legendary outlaw. The town of Templar seemed like the place to begin a new life, especially since Sam's old cellmate lived there as a Bible-thumping sheriff, but settling in Templar brings his new future to clash with old loyalties.

Yellowstone Kelly by Will Henry

Luther Sage Kelly was a legend to all. He traveled up and down the Yellowstone Valley challenging death and searching for Crow Girl, his Absaroka mate, and for the Hunkpapa who held her in bondage.

Drifter's End: a Western Duo by Ray Hogan

In these two short novels, Hogan combines compelling characters with intense, emotionally involving narrative. "Hell's Corners," named in its heyday as a roaring cattle town, is ready to settle down. "Drifter's End" follows Frank Brokaw to his hometown after 4 years of fighting in the War Between the States.

Preacher's Peace: The First Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Long before there was "Preacher," the mountain man, a young adventurer set off with a team of fur traders for the time of his life. He found blood, betrayal and the beginning of a legend. So began the saga of the courageous loner who would become known as Preacher.

Cutthroat Gulch by Richard S. Wheeler

Sheriff Blue Smith discovered the bullet-ridden body near his fishing hole. Now Blue walks a thin line between vengeance and justice in a quest to hunt down the enemy from his past who knows all of his vulnerabilities -- and wants to see Blue pay.

Crusader by Max Brand

Harry Camden was seduced out of the wilderness by a girl - a romantic lure used by boxing manager Sparrow Roberts - to make him a champion fighter.

Vengeance Is a Bullet by Ralph Cotton

Carl O'Bannion was a mere boy when his parents were mercilessly gunned down by a gang of former Union guerillas led by Major Jamison "Wolf" Avrial.

Relentless by Ed Gorman

Marshal Lane Morgan is an honorable man who isn't about to let anyone dodge the law - not even the son of Paul Webley, the most crooked figure in Skylar, Colorado.

Sun Dance by Fred Grove

Frank Chesney is a man with bitter memories and loyalty to himself alone. When a woman who has asked his help is taken captive by marauders, Chesney finds himself taking the lead to rescue her.

Shotgunner by Ray Hogan

There was no celebrating in Saddlerock when Dan Ruick returned home again. A bounty hunter was on his tracks, with orders to shoot on sight!

Trek of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

It didn't matter that Smoke Jensen had been cleared of all charges. When bounty hunters couldn't capture Smoke, they took his woman instead. This time, Smoke won't come back down the mountain until hes the last man standing.

Arrow In the Sun by T. V. Olsen

Young soldier Honus Gant knew what Spotted Wolf would do to beautiful Cresta if he captured her again, and Gant couldn't let that happen...

Trailback by Robert Vaughan

To Texas ranchers, changing from Longhorns to Herefords is an idea worth killing over. When the young new owner of Trailback introduces a new breed to the land, neighbors hire a gunslinger to change his mind.

Bad to the Bone: the Pecos Kid #6 by Jack Bodine

On the dodge south of the border, Duane Braddock lands in a luxurious Mexican hacienda, where he befriends a powerful nobleman's lonely wife.

The Streak by Max Brand

The stories about the fabulous Streak were endless. But none of them were true! So what was the Streak to do when the deadliest gunslingers around decided to test his guts?

The Bozeman Trail by Ralph Compton

Three characters are hired on to drive cattle through Sioux country as the Civil War rages, gold fever strikes, dead enemies lurk and ... they're not sure they can trust one another.

Double Eagles by Andrew J. Fenady

Fifteen million dollars in newly minted double eagles meant to finance the Union's war effort become a prime target on the Phantom Hope. When the ship is attacked and crippled, Captain Gunnison and his men transport the gold across the rugged Mexican landscape.

Cunning of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Some know Smoke Jensen as a hero...and others believe the dark side of the legend that he's an outlaw who killed over 300 men. Now Smoke is in a jail cell needing to escape the hungry mob out to lynch him.

The Wandering Hill by Larry McMurtry

The Berrybender family continues its journey of exploration in the American West as begun in McMurtry's title "Sin Killer."

Molly and the Gold Baron by Stephen Overholser

When she has to be, ace operative Molly Owens is as rough as her .38 caliber Colt. When she wants to be, Molly's woman enough to melt in a man's arms.

Quincannon by Bill Pronzini

Secret Service agent John Quincannon has found little joy in his life since the day his stray bullet killed an innocent young woman and her unborn child. Now the Service needs him and staying sober won't be easy.

The Rocky Mountain Company: Cheyenne Winter by Richard S. Wheeler

In 1841, St. Louis businessman Guy Strauss sent his hopes, his son, and his money up the Missouri River to the Yellowstone to open a trading post. For Strauss' son, Maxim, the fight for survival meant becoming a man.

Apache Moon: The Pecos Kid, Bk 3 by Jack Bodine

Braddock is on the run in self-defense, headed for Mexico with high-spirited Phyllis at his side.

The Pecos Kid: Beginner's Luck by Jack Bodine

He killed before he could shoot, kissed before he could love, and won before he could lose. He was born to be a legend.

The Reckoning: The Pecos Kid, Book 2 by Jack Bodine

Braddock's reputation as the quick-killing, hard-loving kid is on the line. One wrong move and he's dead.

The Lonesome Chisholm Trail by Johnny D. Boggs

16-yr old orphan Tyrell Breen heads west to his uncle's ranch in Texas to become a cowboy. On his way, he is robbed of his money and horse and arrives a sorry sight.

Once They Wore Gray by Johnny D. Boggs

For Sergeant Gil Metairie and other prisoners of the Union Army during the war between the states, captivity was more life threatening than the battle lines.

The Bright Face of Danger: a James Gerald Trio by Max Brand

Pursuing smuggled jewels from Ancient Egypt, the saga of James Gerald continues in this collection of adventures: The Golden Horus, The Bright Face of Danger, and Through Steel and Stone.

The House of Gold: A James Gerald Trio by Max Brand

This thief of thieves is the main character in The House of Gold, The Return of Gerald and While Bullets Sang.

Treasure of the Templars: a Western Story by Tim Champlin

In 1898 archeology professor Roddy McGinnis unearths a secret in Scotland. His quest for treasure takes him west to the New World.

The Dakota Trail by Ralph Compton

After the Civil War, the few surviving ranch owners go to war to save their fortunes. The man most cunning wins.

Death Rides a Chestnut Mare by Ralph Compton

Daniel Strange may be dead and buried, but whoever's riding his chestnut mare is alive and seeking vengeance in his name.

A Cold Hard Trail by Robert J. Conley

Spur Award-winning author Conley has crafted Kid Parmlee, a fearless flesh-and-blood adventurer who lives and breathes the real old West.

Until Darkness Disappears: a Saga of Texas, Book 3 by Will Cook

Mexican revolutionary bandit Pedro Vargas escapes custody with two female hostages and Major Jim Gary is summoned by President Roosevelt to investigate.

Also available in the Saga of Texas series:

Until Day Breaks, Book 1 and Until Shadows Fall, Book 2

Fort Blood: Pony Soldiers by Chet Cunningham

The Cheyenne had yet to face the Pony Soldiers, the deadliest misfits of the U.S. Army, who killed without remorse and died without regret.

No Gold On Boothill by Dan Cushman

3 short novels: Buckaroos of the Big Die, The Conestoga Pirate and No Gold on Boothill.

Lone Rider From Texas: Western Stories by Peter Dawson

7 stories: Manhunt in Malpais, Lawman of Latigo Wells, The Boom-Camp Terror, A Renegade Guards the Gold Stage, Bushwhack Heritage, This One Good Eye and Lone Rider From Texas.

The Master Executioner by Loren D. Estleman

Oscar Stone was the master of executions for more than a quarter of a century. No one in town could understand why he was such a master.

White Desert by Loren D. Estleman

As U.S. Marshal Murdock picks up the trail of a vicious gang, he encounters motley characters who help him launch an attack.

Runaways by Andrew J. Fenady

As a widower tried to shut himself away from the world, a variety of unwanted runaway guests show up to give him something to live for, protect and die for...

Ghost Town by Ed Gorman

Bryce Lamont is hot on the trail of his former partners in crime, but the trail gets rocky as he is robbed of something money cant replace.

Vendetta by Ed Gorman

Father Pete Madsen becomes torn by his devotion to the church and his devotion to friendship when his best friend leaves town and returns in a pine box.

Rangle River: Stories of the West by Zane Grey

This collection consists of two short novels, two short stories and two first-hand accounts of Grey's early adventures.

Buffalo Spring by Fred Grove

A grim struggle swept across the plains, pitting hungry tribes against greed-crazed buffalo hunters.

Ghost Wolf of Thunder Mountain: Frontier Stories by Will Henry

Here are five vivid tales of the frontier by consummate storyteller Will Henry: Wolf-Eye, The Legend of Trooper Hennepin, Rough Riders of Arizona, River of Decision, and Ghost Wolf of Thunder Mountain.

Other Large Print titles by Will Henry: The Bear Paw Horses, Seven Men at Mimbres Spring, and The Day Fort Larking Fell.

A Good Town by Douglas Hirt

Howie Blake and Dobie Tinkerman were friends looking for a good town to settle in. They thought they were through with crime, but crime wasn't through with them.

The Red Eagle: a Western Trio by Ray Hogan

Includes: Lost Brother, A Man Called America Jones, and The Red Eagle.

The First Mountain Man: Preacher by William W. Johnstone

Before the man became a legend, the boy sought survival in the Rocky Mountains.

The Way of the Coyote by Elmer Kelton

The Civil War has ended, and federal officials have taken control of Texas as Rusty Shannon rides to his home on the Colorado River. Winner of the 2002 Spur Award for Best Western Novel.

The Bells of San Juan by Alan LeMay

This is a collection of 12 stories by the author of classic Western novels that became equally loved films such as "The Searchers" and "The Unforgiven."

The Buffalo Hunters by Gary McCarthy

A $5,000 reward was being offered to the first man to find a surviving herd of the buffalo. Thomas Atherton, a stable master, saw it as a chance to tame the prairie.

Boone's Lick by Larry McMurtry

With son Shay narrating, mother Mary Margaret decides to hunt down her elusive husband to tell him she's leaving him.

Sin Killer: The Berrybender Narratives, Bk 1 by Larry McMurtry

Lord and Lady Berrybender have abandoned their palatial home in England to explore the frontier and to broaden the horizons of their children.

Born To The Brand: Western Stories (6) by D. B. Newton

This collection includes: Reach High, Top Hand!; Taming of Johnny Peters; Tinhorn Trouble; Breakheart Valley, Black Dunstons Skull, and Born to the Brand.

Rattlesnake by T. V. Olsen

Only a man whos been pushed too far could be hell-bent enough on vengeance and be as dangerous as a cornered rattlesnake

Double-Cross: A Western Story by Stephen Overholser

Twin brothers raised by different families become acquainted to solve the mystery of their biological parents before one of them is hanged for murder.

Molly and the Confidence Man by Stephen Overholser

Detective Molly Owens pairs with Charley Castle to track her brothers murderer.

Lone Wolf by Frederic Bean

In a bloody mystery, eleven settlers were ritually butchered in a place called Antelope Hill. Although the killings were blamed on renegade Comanches, Sam Ault had another idea.

Outlaw Hell: the Pecos Kid, Bk 4 by Jack Bodine

Duane Braddock is hired to bring order to Escondido, but before the day is out, 4 bullies are dead while the cold-blooded killer is just warming up for his real target Braddock himself.

Black Powder, White Smoke by Loren D. Estleman

Two men. One black and one white. Pursued relentlessly, they move toward an inevitable and tragic meeting. Loren Estlemans wildest tale of the West.

The Rebel: Johnny Yuma by Andrew J. Fenady

There is peace between North and South, but a war still rages inside Johnny Yuma. As he makes his way home to Mason City, Texas, Johnny fights for those who cant fight for themselves.

Prodigal of Death: a Western Quintet by T. T. Flynn

Bushwhackers Die Hard, Killers Guest, Smart Guy, The Pie River and Prodigal of Death.

Fury of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

Smoke Jensen was the quickest draw in the West. He was tired of fighting every punk who wanted to make a reputation for himself, but this time his friends called and he didnt waste a minute.

The Outlaws: Jess by Connie Mason

For the first time, bountyhunter Meg wondered if there might be a man who was good for something other than hunting. A man worth keeping around...

The Outlaws: Rafe by Connie Mason

There was only one way to rescue the dark and dangerous outlaw from the hanging tree by claiming him as the fictitious fiance she was to meet in Pueblo.

Rainbow Rider: a Western Trio by Wayne D. Overholser

The Leather Slapper, The Fence and Rainbow Rider. The Fence takes place in eastern Oregon where sheriff Jim Hallett is betrothed to a girl from a rich family until her father disapproves.

The Gallows Land by Bill Pronzini

Arizona Territory, 1878. Following the death of his young wife, Roy Boone wanders aimlessly in the arid Southwest, desperate for water. Instead, he finds a heap of trouble...

Devil's Creek Massacre: the Pecos Kid #5 by Jack Bodine

He killed before he could shoot, kissed before he could love, won before he could lose. He was born to be a legend.

The Alamosa Trail: a Ralph Compton novel by Robert Vaughan

After the merciless Blizzard of 1886, times are tough, but on a ranch called the Trailback, the cowboys are tougher.

Open Range by Zane Grey

The story of a youth growing quickly to manhood and achieving his ambition of becoming a top ranch hand.

Rage of the Mountain Man by William W. Johnstone

When Smokes' wife is kidnapped, he fights all the way from Boston back to Dodge City and on up to Yellowstone, where a brutal showdown with a gang of hired guns awaits.

Ranger's Trail by Elmer Kelton

In the spring of 1874 the Ranger companies that protect settlers against Indian raids and outlaw bands are being reorganized. "Rusty" Shannon is the most sought-after veteran for reenlistment but now he's bent on revenge.

The Outlaws: Sam by Connie Mason

Sam Gentry was hired as a cowhand unknowingly by a woman from his past. Now, how could he take a paycheck from the golden-haired beauty when what he really wanted to do was take her back in his arms?

Walking Hawk: the Baynes Clan by John S. McCord

Dan Walker is running for the Canadian border and away from the law when he saves Alice Martin's life and stays on to protect her and her cattle.

Starvation Camp by Bill Pronzini

Corporal Zachary McQuestion was eager to veer off his icy route in the Yukon to find comfort at Molly Malone's cabin, but intruders have murdered Molly for her meager provisions, and the corporal vows to find Molly's murderers.

The Rocky Mountain Company: Fort Dance by Richard S. Wheeler

Certain that someone is trying to cause the Rocky Mountain Company to lose its trading license when they discover forbidden grain alcohol planted in the hold of their boat, Brokenleg Fitzhugh and his partner, Guy Straus, prepare to argue their case.